

Day in and day out

I'm basking in the sunshine
I spend the days as if nothing's wrong

I'm sipping while I'm reading just like I have a thousand times before

Day in and day out
it makes me wanna scream
just waiting for the beam

Night fall and starlight
I try to keep awake
night fall and moonshine
I feel there's much at stake

I go to the grocery I'm sitting on my bench in the mall

I watch the people go by I watch them as they're going to stall

Day in and day out

night fall and moonshine
I feel there's much at stake

Silent is the night silent are the days watch them as they go flying right away

You don't think we can you don't think it's true just you wait and see next time it is you

We're waiting for the sundown We're waiting for the night to arrive

The days are getting shorter the nights are getting dark and too long

Day in and day out
