

Missing out

I'm waking up to another day I'm staring at the same old walls

The years went by time slipped away
I see the mirror
tell the truth

The lines are drawn upon my face
the wasted moments,
empty space

Missing out,
missing out on life
too scared to fly,
too scared to ride

I'm watching the world
through my windows
it passes by so quickly now

The years have gone
lost in the tide
nothing I did
I can regret

The smiles I faked
the words I bit
the man I see
living a lie

Missing out,
missing out on life
too scared to fly,
too scared to ride

If only I knew the way
if only I knew what to say If only I found my ground if only I could make that sound

My friends became so strange love turned to lies I felt so distant
even at home

Never made a stand just for me
slipping through the hands all I see

Hiding behind a safety wall
staring at you
all in a row

Missing out,
missing out on life
Too scared to fly,
too scared to ride

Standing here
standing in between never spoke my truth
never dared to dream
