

Open your eyes

A lot of people trying to get back to where they once were they're working hard to keep the pace
so they can keep their comfort zone

Open your eyes
look at the sky
don't hold your breath
you will survive

I want to be free
as a bird
you left a mark
inside my dream
I know now what the world could be but it's all too late for us now

look at the sky
you will survive

I am you soul mate
It's hard to believe
we're not even close
got an overdose

I am the red sky
psychedelic eye
looking at the ground
see what I have found

The clean white sheets were left unused no sign that they have been abused
the tubes and pills
are spread around
and we all know where we are bound

look at the sky
you will survive

Where do we go
in the darkness
look at the light
shining so bright
