a. Sad Café

Emerging every day
here at three o'clock and with her coffee cup in the Sad Café

She's wearing same grey suit once it was a scoop some forty years ago but you never know

Sad Café
no one ever notice
Sad Café
won't you ever go, please

She just sits here and watch waiting patiently she's calling on her phone getting answer tone

She's got it from a man things from future days just call me when you can future days has passed

Sad Café
no one ever notice
Sad Café
won't you ever go, please

Sad Café
no one ever notice
Sad Café
won't you ever go, please

b. Future days (instrumental)

c. Calling home

I dial up your number I hope I can wake you up from your deepest slumber I hope I am getting through

Calling home
on the phone
leave a message
at the tone

Why don't you pick up now I can't wait forever more my dream is a fever I'm left in the fading light

Calling home
on the phone
leave a message
at the tone

Calling home
on the phone
pick it up now
will you please

My coffee will get cold and I will be growing old the view is so narrow and I'm gonna fade away

Calling home
on the phone
at the tone

Calling home
on the phone

d. Dismay (instrumental)

e. Message of love

I type the words
I long to hear
will you read them I hope you long to read them too when they reach you

Sending a message of love hope it will reach you
praying to heaven

I watch the screen
I read again
what I just sent I play a game not watching it for an hour

Sending a message of love
hope it will reach you
praying to heaven

hope it will reach you
praying to heaven

f. Smile

Smile through your tears though your heart is breaking
know that time will be mending

Drop all your sorrows
live for the moment
forget tomorrow
with all it's omens

Smile through your tears
know that time will be mending

Smile through your tears

Drop all your sorrows
with all it's omens

g. Break down

Break down your trust the sky is cracking turn out your light
the stars are lacking

Break down and cry
there's nothing else to do
break down and cry
let go of the past

Give up your dreams
your mind is empty phase out phase in what is reality

Break down and cry
break down and cry

h. Sad Café (reprise)

She gave up long ago she has her routines so was it friend or foe she will never know

She sits here once again way beyond despair she's just a print in the air scent of Sad Café

Sad Café
no one ever notice
Sad Café

Sad Café
no one ever notice
Sad Café

i. Empty chair

<spoken>

There's an empty chair where she once sat no one wants to sit there some says she's still around

Haunting lonely people with their cell phones pushing plates around tilting a coffee cup

They're texting and watching waiting and hoping Over and over and over again

The game never stops she knows all too well she never could stop they can't either

</spoken>
