

Searching for Dreams

I'm on my way to a place I don't belong I don't know where to stay or how to get along

They said I would be fine they said they'll hold the line they said it would be nice but I know I'm thinking twice

Searching for dreams
in the big sleep of oblivion
searching for answers
in places where I don't belong

I close my eyes trying not to think at all there'll be no long goodbyes I'm starting now to fall

They said I would be fine
they said it would be nice
but I know I'm thinking twice

in the big sleep of oblivion
searching for answers
in places where I don't belong

I look around but the darkness cover me I don't know what I've found I fear too much to see

They said I would be fine
they said it would be nice

searching for answers
in places where I don't belong

searching for answers
in places where I don't belong
