

Desolation

And the pain still lingers on like the rain do you dare step out from the line again I have lost my faith in you like a dog
I will not get anything in return

In the desolation of my mind
I don't know what lies behind the thin air
In the desolation of my mind
where the wind is howling loud in despair

I find it hard to put a smile on my face and I know you're searching after a trace I will sing my song here to you all night
I will not get anything in return

In the desolation of my mind
I don't know what lies behind the thin air
In the desolation of my mind
where the wind is howling loud in despair

I'm lonely in my head
I'm lying on my bed
I'm going to the fields
I wish I could stand up

I'll take you to the sea that's were I wanna be the seagulls doesn't care they just sit there and scream

So the sign still lingers on in my eyes and the sky reflects the light of the sun
I have lost my interest in your love
I will not get anything in return

In the desolation of my mind
I don't know what lies behind the thin air
In the desolation of my mind
where the wind is howling loud in despair

Desolation
