

In the wake of the silence

In the wake of the silence, a little noise appear shattered images are falling, crashing to the ground In the wake of the sanity, a little thought appear still you keep staring at me with those dreadful eyes

Thousands of flies appears in the sky
they're eating the carcass of all humanity
paralysed with fear, I can never go near
I won't see or hear, I'm losing my sanity

In the wake of my madness, the silence will appear shattered images are flying like a hurricane
And the horses are gushing and sweating sheer blood sods are flying all around from their burning hoofs

Thousands of flies appears in the sky
they're eating the carcass of all humanity
paralysed with fear, I can never go near
I won't see or hear, I'm losing my sanity

I'm mourning my losses in the silence of my madness I'm crying out silently and wallow in my sadness

In the wake of the darkness, the morning will appear cold beams of light are shining, reflecting all my fears tiny thoughts that I trampled are rising from a goo roaring it's hideous head and craving it's revenge

Thousands of flies appears in the sky
they're eating the carcass of all humanity
paralysed with fear, I can never go near
I won't see or hear, I'm losing my sanity