

Look at the sky

The sky is turning black and all are going back to times of dread and fear I wish the sky was clear

I look at the sky
and I still wonder why You left me behind
without saying goodbye

The sky is turning blue and all are waiting too for times of joy and light I wish to stop the fight

I look at the sky
and I still wonder why
You left me behind
without saying goodbye

I am still looking
up to the skies
I am still listening
to hear all your lies

look to the west and listen to the east
pick up the best and unleash the beast

gaze at the north and listen to the south
pick up the sword and shut up your mouth

The sky is turning red and all are way ahead in times of you and me I wish you'd be and see

I look at the sky
and I still wonder why
You left me behind
without saying goodbye

I look at the sky
and I still wonder why
You left me behind
without saying goodbye

I am still looking
up to the skies
I am still listening
to hear all your lies