

Tall trees

You can get what you really want you can get all the things you crave but the things that you really need they escape in a moment of time

You can follow the road again you can stray where you want to go you can never go back, my friend time's a healer, but also a lock

Breathe in the air
once you get there
we will dream about tall trees
the wind blows our mind

once you get there

Love me again
not as a friend
we have lost all the songs that we once used to sing

You can play all the games you want you can start all over again you can do it for old times sake don't forget all you do will be fake

once you get there

once you get there
