

The wind blew my thoughts away

I'm looking over the sea
the sun is setting slowly I'll have my five o'clock tea I'm thinking of you only

You took it all away the trees, the birds of prey the sun, the stars that fall I know you took it all

The wind blew my thoughts away
I got nothing left to say
I might as well just fly away

I walk across the lawn
I hope to meet you there I know it's near the dawn that's all we got to share

You're sulking on your throne
I can only throw a bone and watch the late, late show
I know I won't let go

The wind blew my thoughts away
I might as well just fly away

I'm flying in a dream
I walk the trash of space you're nowhere to be seen you're sunken from the surface

You locked yourself away that's how it's gonna stay You think you enjoy yourself at the bottom of a well

The wind blew my thoughts away
I might as well just fly away

The wind blew my thoughts away
